Light in Sky, Auto Is Halted Near Enfield

The newsworthy experience of a [illegible] motorist in Newman was adding a postion to Concord way he best told in the words with which he reported it to this newspaper from Wilmot at 10:15 last night. [illegible]

"I was driving on Rte. 4-A between Wilmot and Enfield about 45 minutes ago. The 10 p. m. news from WNAC was just starting on the car radio. I was making about 60 miles an hour.

"All at once the radio stopped. The lights went out. The engine stopped. Everything electrical on the car stopped working.

"I pulled to the side of the road to see what had happened and I was still holding on to the door when I heard a very loud hum like a high-frequency electrical whine.

"I looked up and saw a very bright light. It was below the cloud cover — I'd estimate it at between 2,000 and 3,000 feet — and looked about the size of a flashlight held at arm's length, pointed toward your face.

"It seemed to be hovering overhead for a moment and then took off south toward Mt. Cardigan, traveling very fast. It went right across the road leaving light flashing on top of Mt. Cardigan.

"As the light left, the high-pitched whine went away with it. When the whine died away my car's lights came on, the radio came on, and the motor started.

"The whole thing lasted about 15 or 20 seconds. There wasn't any wind.

"When the car's electricity went out and I pulled over to the side and stopped I left the ignition key turned on but the motor wasn't running and the shift was at 'park.' I first heard the humming sound when the car stopped, then I heard it louder when I opened the door and stepped out. I [illegible] for about five seconds after the light started to move, and it faded out with it."

The Concord man added, "I was more curious than anything else about that light and the sound. The thing that scared me most was when the

Mysterious Light Reported Twice Friday Evening

MANCHESTER, N.H. — Two reports have been called of mystery lights in the sky Friday evening.

The first was from an unidentified Concord man who was traveling between Enfield and Wilmot on Route 4-A.

At 10 p.m. his car radio suddenly stopped, the lights went out and the engine stopped, he said.

The driver pulled to the side of the road and heard a loud hum "like a high-frequency electrical whine" and saw a bright light hovering about 2, 000 to 3,000 feet overhead.

The light then appeared to travel south across the red beacon light on top of Mt. Cardigan.

The man said the "whole thing lasted about 15 or 20 seconds." About five seconds after the light started to move the humming sound faded out—then the man's car started.

Shortly before that a Manchester man reported that his television set stopped working.

He went outside to see if his antenna was damaged and saw a "mysterious light" in the sky and also heard a humming sound. He said the light was moving above the tree line at a slow rate.

Again, electrical power was restored when the mysterious light vanished.

'Mystery Light' Seen After TV Stops Working

A second person has reported seeing a "mysterious light" Friday night minutes after his television set just mysteriously stopped working.

Matthew Rybczyk of 108 Morse Rd., said that at just about 9:45 p. m. Friday he was at home watching TV when all of a sudden it stopped working.

He went outside, thinking the snow or wind had damaged the antenna, and upon opening the door saw the "mysterious light" in the sky.

Rybczyk said that as he saw the flash he also heard a humming sound. He reported the light was moving in the sky above the tree line to the east at a slow rate.

A Concord man Friday night had reported seeing a similar light while diving his car on Route 4A between Wilmot and Enfield.

This motorist, who remained anonymous, said that his car's radio went off as well as the lights, and the motor stopped. He added that after pulling up, he looked and saw over the light and heard a humming sound.

In both cases electrical power was restored when the "mysterious light" vanished.

January 25,1963 -- Manchester, New Hampshire -- Matthew Rybosyk noticed his TV set stopped working after a mystery lighted object with a humming sound hovered over his house. A Concord man reported his car radio, lights and motor stopped after a similar object flew over Route 4A between Wilmot and Enfield. The strange object also made a humming sound. Local Residents Sight Strange Objects In Sky

Mrs. Gladys Langley of Mt. Prospect Road, Holderness, and Richard Bruce, Jr., 8½ year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bruce of Parker Street, Plymouth, called the Record Office this week to report strange lights in the sky.

The [redacted] reported seeing a glaring irregular shape last Thursday night in the northeast, near the horizon, which appeared to be of many shapes brightly lit up. She said it would stay in the same position temporarily, then move first to the north, then south, but in a gradual southerly direction. It possibly could have been the same object which gave a near-shattering experience on Route 93 near Kelfield in a Concord man that night at ten o'clock. A former Manchester newsman, who reported it to the Manchester Union-Leader from Wilson about 45 minutes later. He said as he was driving, his radio suddenly stopped, the lights went out and the engine stopped. Everything electrical on the car stopped. He saw a very bright light in the sky, about the size of a flashlight, hovering overhead for a moment and then going south toward Mt. Cardigan, crossing the red beacon light flashing on the summit. It had a high-pitched whine, and after the whine died away the car's lights came on, radio started up, and the motor then started.

Hubbard called the Record Office Monday, stating that about 5:30 p. m. Monday night he was watching for his Dad to come home when he saw what appeared to be a big ball of fire descending at a slant over Mt. Stinson, at a fast rate of speed, in a northerly direction. He could see the [redacted] behind trees as they [redacted] he said there appeared to be two red bands [redacted] over the top of the ball like two red stripes. He called his mother, who also saw the object for a few seconds.

This newspaper called Mrs. Evelyn Reeves of West Plymouth, NICAP Investigator for central New Hampshire, in an attempt to reach it in the Plymouth vicinity. If she is called immediately, it is helpful to the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena, and all observers are urged to cooperate. Don't wait until a few hours later or the next day. Just call 536-2211.
