THE INVESTIGATION BY BOB SPEARING, MUFON DIRECTOR OF INTERNATIONAL INVESTIGATIONS

Witness saw a large dark object with red bottom light over Ben Franklin Bridge in Philadelphia. Immediately upon spying it, in the blink of an eye, object was in front of witness on his balcony. So big witness could not see entire object. Dark grey with red beacon on bottom. His is suggestive of a triangle with a bottom center beacon usually red in color but total nomenclature of vehicle was beyond his viewpoint.

This is highly suggestive of a report from Yorkshire England in 10/15/1996 by a police officer named Andre in MUFON Case # 62960, who saw a possible triangle with a white spotlight over a highway a mile away. When he called in the report on 2 different frequencies, the object b-lined to him in under a second and turned on a bright neon BLUE beam over his police cruiser. After a few moments the beam went out and the officer frantically exited his land rover and saw a large black triangle over head approx 100 f with an old fashioned red police beacon on the center bottom of the craft. The craft shot away in an apparent decline of an abduction possibly understanding the ramifications of abducting a police officer. Three months later 30 miles away in north yorkshire, Omar Fowler, old time UGFologist, recounts an abduction encounter with a girl in a field reading a book in daytime when a shadow comes over her. A black triangle uses a BLUE tractor beam to bring her into the craft for a typical Grey experimentation episode on a steel table.

Without doubt these two Yorkshire 1995 cases are interconnected.

In this current case, witness initially spied an odd object approximately 1 mile away hovering near the Ben Franklin Bridge, a massive and important thoroughfare from NJ into Philadelphia, Pa. Witness also intimated there are sensitive installations near the Ben Franklin bridge. There are several! One intriguing one is the US Army Inventory Research Facility for which no info is available. It is less than 3 miles from the incident in this case. Interesting.

Afterwards witness had 3 MIB type encounters of incredible interest.

1. At a shopping area a Hispanic male approached asking odd questions and trying to make physical contact through a hand shake. Witness repelled attempts.
2. Same male at a different part of Philadelphia weeks later attempted to again engage witness and touch him. Witness said Hispanic male was casually dressed. Not MIB suit and tie. Witness recounted the oddity of the encounter with the same individual that could not be random on opposite sides of a vast city like Philadelphia.

3. Third time a different person accosted witness in a bar with his girlfriend. The female intruder sat down next to the witness. Looked past witness to girlfriend and then told witness something sexually personal in nature about girlfriend. Witness was scared at this point and believed the target read his girlfriend's mind. Witness rebuffed the MIB and MIB replied "You are stronger than we thought!" MIB said they were a veteran of the Iraq war!!!

MIB then extended hand and witness instinctively and inadvertently made contact in a handshake before he knew what he was doing. MIB visits stopped after this physical contact. What was the need of MIB to personally make physical contact. What is the purpose of two similar accounts in Yorkshire U.K. in the 1990s.

Additionally, a witness from a Vietnam war encounter named Geg Andrews in the MUFON CMS who was a petty officer on the USS King in the Vietnam War had encounter with an orb on their ship in the South China Sea in the Vietnam war when he and another individual were unloading NUKES from one ship to another. A triangle roughly the size of an eighth a slice of a pizza pie engaged them on the deck of the King.

Afterwards, in an event eerily similar to what happened to our Philadelphia witness, the seaman was in a bar when he was accosted by a female who tried to engage him and touch him. When he rebuffed her efforts she stated to him "You are stronger than we thought!". This is an almost identical statement to our Philadelphia witness with his girlfriend.

So to conclude, we have several similar cases of possible frustrated abductions, interactions with MIBs and WIBs after an initial interaction and in all cases there was a probability of an interaction, at least from a distance, of a triangle with a red beacon on its bottom belly. All of this is stretching credulity.
